

Seven Bank to Install ATMs in Narita Airport's Airside Areas—A First for Japan
ATM services will start October 1, 2009, enhancing convenience for passengers departing or in transit

Seven Bank, Ltd. will install three ATMs in the airside areas* (i.e., past passport control) at Narita International Airport, putting them into service from October 1, 2009 (Thursday). A total of five Seven Bank ATMs have been installed at Narita International Airport since July 2007 (two in Terminal 1, three in Terminal 2), but this will be the first time that ATMs have been installed in airside areas of any Japanese airport. By making it easy to withdraw cash, the ATMs will enhance convenience for departing or in-transit passengers who wish to use the time before their flight to shop, enjoy a meal, or otherwise relax in the passenger terminal's duty free shopping mall.

Seven Bank will continue rolling out ATMs at various locations to meet customers' needs to provide convenient access to ATM services to even more customers. Seven Bank will also continue supporting the Japanese Government's Visit Japan Campaign through services that allow overseas visitors to withdraw Japanese yen from its ATMs.

*Only boarding and disembarking flight crew and passengers, and authorized airport personnel, are permitted in the airside areas. Flight crew and passengers must have passed through the check-in, security check, and customs areas and completed departure procedures at passport control.
